

Welcome to Hector's Bothy

The word 'bothy' means a 'friendly house' - traditionally a welcome rest from the elements where food and shelter were offered to travellers. Derived from the Gaelic "Am Bothan" (which means small house or hut), a bothy is also place of refuge for shepherds or hill-walkers caught out on the hills by bad weather. They are normally found in remote, mountainous areas and are particularly common in the Highlands of Scotland. Rain or shine, we hope you will enjoy our version of The Bothy - a traditional friendly house right in the middle of Kyle of Lochalsh.

Please look out for our Specials board where our Homemade dishes are advertised.

We also have a selection of cakes and biscuits available from the front counter which you can choose after your meal or as an afternoon snack.

There are a selection of gifts available to purchase from your waitress, the perfect reminder of your Bothy visit. Please see the range in the display cabinet at our front door.
